WELCOME MESSAGE

Dear colleagues,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2026 North American Veterinary Dermatology Forum! This year's Forum will take place at the JW Marriott in Indianapolis from April 29 - May 2. Why Indianapolis? Why not?!? It consistently ranks in the top 20 locations in the US for conference sites. Steps away from the JW Marriott, you will find a wide range of "foodie" places, a world-class zoo, Triple-A baseball, Lucas Oil Stadium, Indianapolis Speedway, and numerous scenic walkways. Do you like museums? Art, military, historical, NCAA, natural history, and Native American museums are all within walking distance.

Indianapolis is known as the "Crossroads of America" for good reason. Its central location facilitates transportation by planes, trains, and automobiles! However you choose to travel, make sure you join your colleagues for our annual dermatology meeting! You can expect to cheer as residents present their research projects and clinicians showcase their research. Stay up-to-date on cutting-edge scientific breakthroughs, comparative human/animal dermatology topics, practical clinical updates, and industry's latest offerings.

My favorite part of these meetings is seeing colleagues who have become dear friends over the years, a reunion of sorts! The social program during the North American Dermatology Forum is sure to rekindle friendships, encourage new connections, and create more fond memories for years to come. I've often heard newcomers to NAVDF comment on the unique camaraderie among NAVDF attendees. Come join in on the fun!

Last year, 772 people attended NAVDF, 30 sponsors and 35 exhibitors supported us, and a $3700 charitable donation to Project Street Vet was made. We would love to see you join us in Indianapolis April 29-May 2 for the 2026 North American Veterinary Dermatology Forum!

"Itching" to see you soon,

Kristin Holm, DVM, DACVD

President, North American Veterinary Dermatology Forum
